Anna Held's Opinion of An Automobile

Arthur Bunker Motor Car Co

"I cannot help but say that the big, luxurious Oakland car that took me so easily and comfortably around my beautiful boulevard is the easiest riding American built car I have seen. Of course, my foreign machines cost me thousands of dollars, but this is the first American built car that I ever thought their equal."

Respectfully yours,
Anna Held.

You will note by Miss Held's letter that she has had experience with foreign built cars which cost her thousands of dollars. You will also note carefully that the Oakland is the first American built car that she ever thought the equal of the high priced foreign made cars. This is one of the best tributes that has ever been paid the Oakland, and, coming as it does from a woman who is in a position to judge of the comparative merits of high priced cars and medium cars, it should carry great weight.

CHILD MET SUDDEN DEATH

Fannie Burdick Fell While at Play and Ruptured Blood Vessel in the Brain.

A distressing accident occurred
Wednesday morning at the home of
J. W. McConnell, 324 Sandusky street.

Little Fannie Belle Burdick, daughter of Mrs. Clara Burdick, sustained an injury which ended her life in ten minutes. She and a little friend, Katharine Jordan, child of L.
F. Jordan of the Elliott State bank, had gone to the home of Mr. and Mrs. McConnell and were evidently attempting to enter by the rear door which has three steps and in ascending these the little one fell, but didn't seem to be seriously hurt. She got up and with little Katharine entered the house of Mrs. McConnell and both were merry and laughing and Katharine told Mrs. McConnell that Fannie Belle had had a fall, but no one seemed to think it amounted to much. Soon after Fannie said she wanted to go home and did so, Mrs.
McConnell following. As she entered the family home she exclaimed:
"O mamma, mamma, I fell."

Her mother asked her where and she said at Mrs. McConnell's and those were the last words she spoke.
Mrs. McConnell told Mrs. Burdick that it didn't seem as if the child could have been much hurt, but before long the little one began to turn pale about her mouth, soon she vom-ited, throwing up her breakfast and some mucus and convulsions soon ensued and in ten minutes she was dead.

Mrs. Burdick called in Dr. Mc-Laughlin, who responded promptly to the call, but on his arrival he found the little patient had breathed her last. Coroner Skinner was sent for and owing to the circumstances deemed it best to hold an inquest which he did with Dr. A. J. Ogram, foreman; J. W. Marshall, L. J. Jordan,
S. T. Birdsell, Dennis Hull and
T. H. Wright, clerk. Mrs. McConnell and Mrs. Burdick were the only witnesses to the sad affair except little Katharine Jordan, too small to testify, and the verdict was that the child met her death through convulsions caused by a fall which was wholly accidental.

Dr. McLaughlin said death was doubtless due to rupture of a blood vessel of the brain.

The little child so suddenly summoned was the daughter of Mrs.
Clara Burdick of this city and was born in Chicago in May, 1909. Her father, M. J. R. Burdick, died a few months ago and her mother lived with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Burdick, parents of the little one's father. The grandfather is employed at the State School for the Deaf.

Little Fannie had endeavored to marry who knew her, for she was a child of a sweet disposition and winning ways. The afflicted mother is well high prostrated with grief and she and the grandparents will have the sympathy of many friends.

The funeral will be held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon from the residence on Sandusky street and the remains will be taken tonight to Chicago for burial.

LECTURE ON NEBULAR HYPOTHESIS.

Professor W. O. Beal of Illinois college gave an exceedingly interesting lecture Tuesday evening in the library lecture course on the Spiral
Nebular Hypothesis or the Planetary Nebular Theory, which has been proposed to account for world making.
The Science and Mathematics Center of Jacksonville were the guests of Miss Webster, this being the last subject on their program for this year. Professor Beal showed conclusively that the theory of the Nebular Hypothesis advanced by Laplace must be abandoned or greatly modified in the light of modern research. The Planetary Theory has been advanced by Dr. Chamberlain and Dr. Moulton of the University of Chicago and has many features, which render it plausible. The lecture was illustrated by a number of fine lantern slides. A most appreciative audience listened to Prof. Beal for an hour and a half and then remained longer to discuss the subject.

FUNERAL NOTICE.

The funeral of Mrs. Ann M.
Scott will be held at 9 o'clock this morning from the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. V. Skinner, on South East

a more extended service will be held in the Christian church of that city. Interment will be in the cemetery at Carrollton.

HIKE TO VALLEY CITY.

Valley City, expecting to return on

Brewer will lead the runners.

garet Rose Dare were in the city yesterday visiting Jacksonville friends while on their way to their home in Quincy after a visit with friends in Ashland.

ARTIFICIAL CAMPHOR.

Man Does in Two Weeks What Nature
Takes Two Years to Do.

Who, unless he be a chemist, would suppose that there exists anything in common between the camphor of the orient and the turpentine obtained from the pine tree in the occident?
The two substances have no superficial resemblance, their very odors being different, yet, chemically considered, there is very little difference between them. Turpentine is composed of ten atoms of carbon combined with sixteen atoms of hydrogen, and camphor has the same components, with the addition of one atom of oxygen.

The best natural camphor comes from Formosa, and the outbreak of the Russian-Japanese war advanced the price to such an extent that the chemists of the world were called upon to contrive a substitute. They soon decided that it would be more practicable to make an artificial camphor.
Knowing turpentine to be the substance most nearly allied to it in chemical structure, a series of experiments on a very large scale was begun. A detailed history of these experiments would fill many volumes. Today from a determined quantity of turpentine may be obtained a fourth part of the weight of pure camphor. The success of the experiments was first known when the odor of camphor issued from the set combinations.

Today man can manufacture in the laboratory in fifteen days an amount of camphor which it takes a tree two years to produce.—Harper's Weekly.

BRANDED BRIDES.

Novel Betrothal Customs of the Natives of New Guinea.

So far as proposals of marriage are concerned, in New Guinea it is always leap year, for in that island the men consider it beneath their dignity to notice women, much less to make overtures of marriage. Consequently the proposing is left to the women to do.

When the ebony belle falls in love with a man she sends a piece of string to his sister or, if he has no sister, to his mother or another of his lady relatives. Then the lady who receives the string tells the dusky washer that the particular damsel is in love with him.
No courting follows, however, for it is considered beneath a New Guinea gentleman's dignity to waste time in such a pursuit. If the man thinks he would like to wed the lady he meets her alone, and they decide straight away whether
to marry or drop the idea.

In the former case the betrothal is announced. The man is then marked on the back with charcoal, while a mark is actually cut into the woman's skin.

No breach of promise actions are possible in New Guinea, though if the lady is jilted her friends may hunt her lover up and "go" for him. On the other hand, if the dark damsel prove faithless she is liable to be beaten by her betrothed if he catches her.—Pearson's Weekly.

Water as Food.

In the light of certain statistics given by W. J. McGee in the World's Work the old sentence of "bread and water" does not, at all events, sound like starvation rations. For man and other animals water is the leading food. The average human ration is some six pounds daily, four and one-half liquid and one and one-half nominally solid. A pound of grain is the equivalent of two tons of water used by the growing wheat and a pound of beef the equivalent of fifteen to thirty tons of water consumed by the beves chiefly in the form of feed, and the adult who eats 200 pounds each of bread and beef in a year consumes something like a ton of water in drink and the equivalent of 400 tons in bread and 4,000 tons in meat, or 4,401 tons in all.

Domestic Troubles.

Husband—What's the matter, dear?
Why do you look so worried?

Wife—Oh, I've just got everything
all ready for Mrs. Montelotti's visit.
I've done up all the curtains and pillowshams and bureau covers and centerpieces, and they're all spick and span.

Husband—Well, if everything is in such apple pie order why look so disconsolate about it?

Wife (bursting into tears)—Oh, I just know as soon as she sees them she'll know I cleaned everything all up because I was coming.—Judge.

Reason For Her Talk.

Lola, aged four, was present at dinner one evening when a number of guests were being entertained by her parents, and during a lull in the conversation she began to talk very earnestly.

"Why do you talk so much, Lola?"
asked her father.

"Cause I've got something to say,"
was the innocent reply.—Chicago News.

The Gallon.

The gallon measure in Canada differs quite materially from the gallon in the United States. There the gallon measure contains exactly ten pounds of distilled water, here the gallon contains only 8.3389 pounds. Milk being heavier than water, a Canadian gallon of milk will weigh 10.21 pounds. Whereas in the United States the weight will be 8.6 pounds.

A Shock.

"Now, Henry," she began with a set jaw, "I must have $10 today."
"All right," replied her husband,
"here it is."
"Thanks, Henry," she exclaimed,
suddenly paing. "What's the matter?
Are you ill?"

JOHN DEERE IMPLEMENTS
The New
Deere Gang
The Only Plow That Has Both
Foot-Lift and Hand-Lift

Besides you'll find that the very name "John Deere" on any plow insures a lasting saving to you in Service and Durability.
There is no plow made that has a better or easier Foot-Lift than the New Deere—and it also has a separate Hand-Lift. It is the only plow that a boy can lift out of the ground while the horse is standing still.
The New Deere Gang is the only plow that can be controlled perfectly while walking. The auxiliary Hand-Lift gives the New Deere five times the lifting leverage found on other makes and you can raise the plow without setting on the seat.
Lifts 7 or 8 inches above ground instantly but easily and in positively the lightest draft plow made. This is due to the peculiar construction of the bottom. Our longest experience making the best grade plows has taught us where the friction is heaviest, and we have shaped our plow bottoms to give the easiest penetration with the least draft.
Other features of the New Deere Gang are—Adjustable seat—Better steel used in construction throughout—Ease of management—Dust-proof wheel boxes—good high wheels—easy running—axles run in oil. Equal distribution of weight on each wheel. Many other features which we will tell you all about if you write or call on us and see our Deere Line.

RETURNS FROM
STATE PRIMARYLATER FIGURES FAIL TO CHANGE
EARLY RESULTS.Deneen's Plurality is 75,000, Dunne's
40,000 and Sherman's About 25,
000—Definite Figures of Primary Still Lacking.

Chicago, April 10.—Figures compiled from returns received up to late tonight failed materially to change the early results of yesterday's primary in Illinois, in which Col. Roosevelt swept the state in the advisory preference vote for Republican presidential candidate, defeating President Taft by about 115,000, and in which Speaker Champ Clark and Governor Wilson by about 340,000 over the Democratic ticket.

The results of the primaries as shown tonight are:

That Governor Deneen's plurality in his renomination by the Republicans is about 75,000, while Edward P. Dunne secured the nomination by the Democrats for governor by about 40,000.

That Lawrence Y. Sherman's endorsement by the Republicans in the advisory vote on United States senator was about 25,000 over Senator Cullom.

That Governor Deneen will control the new Republican state central committee by a large majority.

Among the Democrats both National Committeeman Roger C. Sullivan and the Hearst-Harrison combination tonight claim control of the party organization, and the result probably will not be known until complete returns are received.

Returns still were coming in slowly tonight, and definite figures on the primary still were lacking.

President Taft carried at least one district in yesterday's presidential preference primary in Illinois. It is the fifth Chicago district.

This was definitely established from figures compiled from returns to night. There will be two delegates from each of the 25 districts in the state and eight delegates at large, and Col. Roosevelt's supporters say that he will have 56 delegates from Illinois to the Republican national convention, according to the advisory vote. The delegates will be selected at district and state conventions. President Taft's managers announced to night that they would fight for an endorsement of the present administration in the platform to be adopted in the Republican state convention in Springfield April 19.

Every district in Illinois was carried by Speaker Champ Clark over Governor Woodrow Wilson in the Democratic primary.

For representatives in congress at large one place on the Democratic ticket still appears doubtful, the contest being between Henry Hogan of Chicago and William E. Williams of Pittsfield.

Danville, Ill., April 10.—The official vote of Cumberland county gives Taft 341, Roosevelt 731, LaFollette 501, Clark 759, Wilson 189, Deneen 139, Small 245, Wayman 58, Hurlburt 10, Brown 422, Jones 18, Davis 63, Yates 131, Caldwell 650, Alschuler 207, Dickson 86, Dunne 1,052, Cannon 594, O'Day 410, Downs 97, McClenahan 185, Ryan 278, McGurran 59, Walton 275.

Springfield, Ill., April 10.—Returns from Sangamon county give:

United States Senator—Republican, Maxwell 927, Cullom 2,424, Sherman 4,375, Webster 195.

Governor—Republican, Deneen 2,465, Small 1,134, Wayman 164, Hurlburt 80, Brown 422, Jones 173, Davis 272, Yates 3,124.

Democratic—Caldwell 5,244, Alschuler 437, Dickson 53, Dunne 278.

PIKE COUNTY RESULTS.

Pittsfield, Ill., April 10 (Special).—Returns from Pike county, with the exception of three small precincts, give Roosevelt a majority of nearly 300 over Taft. The vote follows: Taft 242, Roosevelt 791, LaFollette 54, Clark 2,448, Wilson 338; for governor, Deneen 432, Small 304, Wayman 138, Yates 121, Caldwell 1,048, Alschuler 649, Dickson 85, Dunne 239. For state treasurer Andrew Russell carried the county by a large majority and Sherman, for United States senator also received a large majority in this county. With six precincts to hear from Campbell S. Hearn, candidate for state senator from the 36th district, has a majority of only 15 votes over his opponent Webster. Ray N. Anderson, republican candidate for the nomination for the same office was nominated without opposition. George Wilson, Republican, Hoffman and E. E. Strubinger, Democratic, received the nomination for representative from the thirty-sixth district.

RESULT IN CASS COUNTY.

Virginia, Ill., April 10 (Special).—About 80 per cent of the registered vote of Cass county was cast at the primaries Tuesday. The Republicans showed their preference of Roosevelt for president by a majority of 115. The nominees were: For governor, Deneen, Republican; Caldwell, Democrat; for state treasurer, Andrew Russell, Republican; Walton, Democrat; for representative in congress, state at large, Barnett M. Chipperfield and William E. Mason, Republicans, and Williams and Stringer, Democrats. Present State's Attorney A. T. Lucas, Democrat, was nominated for state's attorney by a majority of 400 over his opponents, Schafer and Leeper.

FAVOR TAFT

Delegates at Large Chosen by Vermont Republicans Friendly to the President.

Montpelier, Vt., April 10.—Of the eight Vermont delegates to the Republican convention at Chicago two district delegates will go instructed for Taft and two for Roosevelt. The four delegates at large are unpledged, although the state convention to day endorsed President Taft's administration and all four delegates expressed a personal desire for his re-nomination.

Two of the delegates were chosen without opposition and the other two after slight contests between the Taft and Roosevelt forces in which the Taft majorities were 54 and 53, respectively. Vermont's delegates at large are United Senator Carroll S. Paige of Hyde Park; J. Gray Estey of Brattleboro, John L. Lewis of Troy, and Governor John A. Mead of Rutland.

Senator Dillingham was chairman, opened the convention with a brief speech consisting principally of an exposition of Republican principles. The platform adopted endorsed President Taft with references to the tariff and several other Republican issues. The platform was adopted by a voice vote, although the Roosevelt adherents protested stoutly, and asked for a ballot.

Chairman Dillingham decided against them.

Senator Townsend closed the proceedings with a speech endorsing President Taft.

TALK OF GAYNOR

New York Mayor May Be Brought Out as Compromise Candidate for President.

New York, April 10.—Talk of Mayor W. J. Gaynor as a compromise candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination was the chief topic of conversation among delegates arriving here to day for the Democratic state convention which will be held to morrow to elect delegates to the National convention at Baltimore. It is conceded by some that the New York delegates will not be instructed, although it is expected that the state's solid vote will be cast for Mayor Gaynor.

Downward revision of the tariff will be made the paramount issue in the platform to be presented to the convention by the committee on resolutions. The Rochester platform of 1910 will be reaffirmed and the administration of Governor Dix endorsed. High praise was given to the leadership of Representative Oscar Underwood of Alabama, chairman of the ways and means committee in the national house of representatives and legislative program of the Democrats in congress will be approved.

Speaking of the platform to be proposed, George M. Palmer, chairman of the state committee, said to day that it would be "progressive, yet sane."

Interest centered to night in the selection of the four delegates at large. Opinion seems to be unanimous that those of the state's "big four" will be Governor John A. Dix, United States Senator O'Connell and Charles F. Murphy. Half a score of names are being discussed for the fourth place, but those most frequently mentioned to night were Alton B. Parker, Samuel Untermyer, Herman Ridder, Isador Strauss and Lieut. Gov. Thomas F. Conway.

ENDED HIS LIFE.

Young Man From Farm Becomes Sick of City Life.

Chicago, April 10.—George Robinson of Capron, Oklahoma, a dental student, twenty-five years old, committed suicide here today by shooting himself with a revolver. He never could understand why he left the farm and came here to take up a profession," he said in a letter he left. "I was far better off teaching school and attending to the farm than I can be here in this sickening city."

His health and despondency is given as the cause of the suicide by Robinson's roommate here.

CHARGED WITH MURDER.

Chicago, April 10.—Murder by throwing their victim out of a window and breaking his neck was charged against Joseph Adanderjk and Joseph Kaya, who were arrested to day after the body of James J. Zborek, 45 years old, had been found beneath the window in his home in West Pullman. Neighbors had believed the man had walked out of the window in his sleep, but the police charge that a quarrel took place among the men which resulted in pitching Zborek out of the window.

REV. W. T. CAMPBELL DEAD.

Rushville, Ind., April 10.—Rev. W. T. Campbell, 76 years old, secretary of the National Board of Education of the United Presbyterian church, died here to day at his home of paralysis. The burial will take place at Mountmorion, Ill., where Mr. Campbell had a pastorate for 27 years.

CUMMINS' DELEGATES.

Des Moines, Iowa, April 10.—Republicans in Kosuth county, this afternoon instructed delegates to the state convention to vote as a unit in supporting the candidacy of Senator Cummins for the presidential nomination.

KILLED BY TRAIN.

Glendove, Mont., April 10.—Andrew Christy, aged 66, a prominent teacher near here, was killed today by a Northern Pacific passenger train. The body was sent to pieces.

BLAME HEARST
FOR RESULTSTATEMENT ISSUED FROM WILSON
HEADQUARTERS.

Defeat in Illinois Attributed to Hearst Allies and Abandonment of Field
by Governor Harmon, who Turned Strength Over to Clark.

Washington, April 10.—The Woodrow Wilson headquarters tonight issued a statement of which the following is a part:

"The result in Illinois is attributable to the influence of William Randolph Hearst and his newspapers and political allies. It was aided, too, by the abandonment of the field by Governor Harmon, who in accordance with the territorial agreement of anti-Wilson allies left Illinois where his friends had been campaigning for months and turned the whole Harmon strength over to Clark.

In the progressive state of Wisconsin, where there is no Hearst machine, the Clark-Harmon combine was defeated by more than two votes to one.

"There is no doubt that Hearst is the greatest asset of the Clark boom and there is also no doubt that Speaker Clark recognizes this fact as is proved by his message to the Hearst newspapers this morning."

Pittsburg, April 10.—Governor Woodrow Wilson, of New Jersey, addressed a Democratic mass meeting here tonight and devoted much of his time to affairs of this state.

Discussing the election of Candidates, Governor Wilson said the question is, are the people going to choose their leaders at the national conventions, or are the politicians. We cannot discuss the trusts or the tariff, or anything else until this is settled.

If the leaders are to be named by message from some headquarters then we might as well adjourn for these will be the last conventions of the kind that ever will be held. Before another campaign ever state in the union will have presidential preference primaries.

SUPPORT ROOSEVELT

Twelve Delegates From Maine Will Advocate Candidacy of the President.

Bangor, Maine, April 10.—The candidacy of Col. Roosevelt will be supported by Maine and twelve delegates in the Republican national convention. Ten were chosen at the Republican state convention and at three of the four district conventions held this afternoon and to night in city hall. The other two were elected a week ago in the first district. Instructions were formally given in the case of fourth district delegates, but all those chosen were named on ballots headed "Roosevelt Delegates."

The Roosevelt leaders had a good working majority in the state convention, the vote for delegates at large being 75 to 497.

The delegates are: Delegates at large—Morrill N. Drew, Portland; Aretas E. Stearns, Rumford; Charles S. Hieburn, Augusta; Halbert P. Gardner, Patten.

They were not instructed by convention, but pledged to support Roosevelt.

CLARK'S MANAGER

Says Landslide in Illinois Indicates
Great Strength of Speaker—Exceeded Their Expectations.

Washington, April 10.—Former Senator Frank P. Dulles, speaker of the Illinois legislature, today issued this statement:

"The Clark landslide in Illinois far exceeding our fondest expectations, is an indication of the great strength of Speaker Clark with the people. Clark received more votes than I expected. All work was expended for several hours at this, as well as the magnificent race in every state, is apparent, and certainly vouches the speaker's success in November if he should lead the Democratic ticket, as he undoubtedly will. It indicates that he could carry Illinois. We are proud of the victory of the Democrats of Illinois for their splendid response to our appeals for support. The result means that a tidal wave of Clark sentiment is sweeping the country, and nothing, in my judgment can stop it."

Whole Village Swept Away by an Eruption of Volcano—Story Brought to Mobile by Captain of Fruit Steamer.

Mobile, Ala., April 10.—Thousands of persons have been killed and whole Indian villages swept away by the eruption of Chiriqui Peak near Doron, I. C. Torero, in Honduras, according to the story of Captain O. V. Morgan, of the United Fruit Steamer Fort Morgan, which arrived here to day.

In describing the eruption Captain Olsvik said:

"The Fort Morgan was berthed at the Almirante wharf about 11 miles from Roca Del Toro, on the morning of April 5, when about 1 o'clock the eastern sky blazed forth and a great rumbling was heard. Looking in that direction I saw great volumes of fire shooting high, it seemed."

"The natives who had been loading the ship all night were terror stricken. Some of the men fell on their knees and prayed. All work was suspended for several hours as the people watched the volcano."

"I learned after leaving that the third of a row of mountain peaks slanted about a mile from us had burst into flame, or had turned into a volcano. The peak that became active was the highest of a group, its height being estimated at 234 feet above the sea level. At the base of the mountain and on its slopes are a number of Indian villages. It is supposed these have been totally destroyed by the lava."

"When daylight came the flames disappeared and a great cloud of smoke hovered over the country for some time. Soon after the volcano was seen, the Fort Morgan was caught by a great current and tore at her moorings. The current in Cedar Creek was very strong, and I am sure that the eruption of the Chiriqui peak was the cause."

"When we got into the open sea great rocks were sticking out of the water where before we had navigated the vessel. Small islands could be seen all around the shore."

PROSPECTS OF
PEACE BRIGHTERWORK IN ANTHRACITE REGION
MAY SOON BEGIN.Sub-Committees Appointed to Take Up Demands of Miners, With Power to Act—Concessions Will Probably Be Offered.

Philadelphia, April 10.—Prospects of peace with an early resumption of anthracite mining grew much brighter to day after the miners and the operators decide to sit down together and talk over their differences. When the negotiations, broken off on March 15, were resumed here this afternoon, George E. Baer, president of the Reading company, proposed on behalf of the operators to arbitrate their differences; that is, to let the anthracite coal strike commission, which settled the strike of 1902, investigate present conditions and decide whether or not any modification of the commission's award is necessary at this time.

In the discussion that followed the miners practically threw this offer aside, and the conference agreed finally to appoint sub-committees to take up the demands of the miners with power to make recommendations for adjustments. The sub-committees were immediately appointed and after a brief joint session the conference adjourned without date.

While the sub-committees are trying to reach an agreement there will be no conferences between the two general committees of the operators and miners.

Aside from the offer to put the settlement of the differences up to the strike commission, neither side made a proposition, but the willingness with which they agreed to further discuss the demands is looked upon as a good sign. It is expected that concessions will be offered in the sub-committee sessions.

The offer to send the matter to the strike commission is held in abeyance and if the sub-committees cannot agree the proposition to call in the commission will be renewed.

GRACE CHURCH FAMILY GATHERING

Membership Spends Delightful Evening on Occasion of Annual Event—Rev. J. W. Miller Gives Interesting Address.

The annual family gathering of the members of Grace M. E. church was held Wednesday night at the church. Approximately 400 members of the congregation were present and it was one of the most inspiring meetings yet held by the church. The supper was under the auspices of the Pastor's Aid society, with Mrs. F. E. Baldwin as chairman. The decorations consisted of carnations, ferns and other flowers and it was a grand sight to see the large crowd seated at the various tables, which completely filled the basement of the church. The menu was of an excellent variety and greatly enjoyed. Grace was said by Rev. A. A. White. During the meal beautiful music was given by the Sunday school chorus.

Mrs. E. C. Lambert, president of the Pastor's Aid society, acted as presiding officer and first called upon the pastor, Rev. J. W. Miller, who gave an excellent address on "Why I am a Methodist." Mr. Ezra Henne, who is the newest member of Grace church, was called upon and heard with especial interest. Capt. Philip Lee, who has been a leader of music in Grace Sunday school for 25 years, was called to the front and led in the hymn "Blest Be the Tie that Binds" and Rev. C. G. Snow, the oldest member of the church, pronounced the benediction.

Some paragraphs are given here-with of the address by Rev. J. W. Miller:

"I was born a Methodist; my early instruction was Methodist; at the age of 15 I became a Methodist from choice. I have never regretted that choice. Increased knowledge of the doctrine, policy, spirit and history of Methodism have greatly strengthened the convictions that first led me to choose this church. The reasons I shall give in answer to the question 'Why I am a Methodist' are specific rather than general. They are specific in that they are based upon characteristics that distinguish Methodism from all other branches of the church.

General reasons which could be assigned for one denomination as well as another will be omitted as failing to meet the purpose of these articles and to answer the question definitely. I believe that three things demand the prayerful consideration of every person in determining with what branch of the Christian church he will unite, viz., purity and simplicity of doctrine, the means afforded for spiritual improvement and facilities for doing good or of fulfilling the great duty of love.

The pure and simple doctrine held by Methodists God has provided for the restoration of sinful man to the image and favor of Himself through atonement for the sins of the whole world. He was a Lamb slain from the foundation of the world, 'not for our sins only but for the sins of the whole world.' Among the unconditional benefits are the resurrection of the body 'both of the just and the unjust,' the removal of the guilt of original sin and restoring man to the ability to turn from his sins and seek the grace and mercy of God through Christ.

"Among the conditional benefits of the atonement are the pardon of our sins by the renewing or regeneration of our hearts by the Holy Ghost, the sanctifying of our spirits, our present and eternal salvation on condition that we repent of our sins, believe in the Lord Jesus Christ and bring forth the fruits of obedience.

These views of the atonement though adopted by some others are nevertheless peculiar doctrines of Methodism. Methodists believe in accordance with the whole tenor of the scriptures that life and salvation are fully offered to every man and that God gives to every one intelligence.

"Methodists believe and teach that it is the privilege of every Christian to enjoy the witness of the Holy Spirit to have the 'Spirit witnessing with their spirits' that they are born of God. That they may know their acceptance with God and be able to say with the Apostle John that 'thereby we know that He abideth in us by the spirit which He hath given us.' 'Methodists were the first in modern times to advocate the doctrine of the knowledge of our acceptance with God.

OLIVE OIL

ITS JOYFUL ADVENT AND USES

ONLY in recent years have Americans been aroused to the value of Olive Oil, although for centuries, people of the Mediterranean have placed it upon the same pedestal as "The staff of life." Yes, Olive Oil antedates the Christian Era. Olive trees around Jerusalem having a reputed age of 2,000 years.

In its native land, butter and lard are supplanted by Oil from the Olive, and the fruit itself answers the purposes of meat; the superb health of the peasantry attests the remarkable value of this diet of Olives and Oil, this combination of food, and antidote for ills.

Unlike animal fats, that of the Olive is easily assimilated; as a builder of tissue in enfeebled bodies tending toward emaciation, PURE Olive Oil is a wonder.

Leading skin specialists now emphasize the value of Olive Oil as a complexion beautifier; results are obtained by regular daily internal use, and by liberal external applications.

Best of reasons, as you see, why the product of the Olive tree is now finding a permanent place upon the tables of the enlightened and grateful of every land.

In all countries suited to Olive Culture, while increasing attention is given to the perfecting of Olive Oil, much of it is still inferior quality. The Oil may be pure, and still be of low grade. Quality is quite as important as purity.

We have direct affiliation with distributors for oil producers whose plants are located in favored zones, and who use scrupulous care in the selection, crushing and pressing of ripe olives, and the filtering of the Oil.

We give our guarantee that every bottle and tin contains absolutely pure Olive Oil without mixing or adulteration of any kind and that it will give overflowing satisfaction.

TEAM SINKS IN MIRE.

John M. Phillips, who is pastor of the Methodist churches at Lynnville and Mr. Zion and Dr. A. A. White, the district superintendent, had quite an experience recently. They drove to Lynnville and held services
there and when they started to the Mt. Zion church they came to a stretch of road which seemed quite smooth and safe, though muddy of course. They had no sooner started on the road than the horses began to sink, the ground seemingly to be without bottom. One horse struggled and fell over. The other one was soon down and then both ministers climbed out and after wading ankle deep in the mud had to give up until help could be secured. Mr.
Phillips walked to the residence of Marshall Stent, half a mile away and Mr. Stent and others came to the aid of the ministerial party. Ropes and straps and other horses were used to extricate the fallen animals and finally the job was accomplished.
Mr. Phillips and Dr. White arrived at home at 6 o'clock very much mud bespattered.

A NOVEL INTRODUCTION.

Dr. Howard Co. Makes a Specific Price.

The Dr. Howard Company have entered into an arrangement with Coover & Shreve drug store, by which a special introductory offer will be made of 25 cents on the 50 cent size of their celebrated specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia.

So remarkably successful has Dr.
Howard's Specific been in curing constipation, dyspepsia and all forms of liver trouble, that Coover & Shreve will return the price paid in every case where it does not give relief.

Coover & Shreve have been able

LOOK ON THE BRIGHT SIDE.

If There Is No Bright Side Burnish Up
the Dark Side.

A gentleman remarked to us that the true theory of life was to get on the optimistic side and not on the cynical and obligatory side of life. We believe that is sensible, says the Ohio State Journal. "Look on the bright side and if there is no bright side burnish up the dark side" is a little quotation that we put in our notebook more than a score of years ago. It is good gospel. It is the doctrine of hope.
Grumbling at everything is un-Christian. It will condemn a man as sure as profanity or lying.

The Bible says, "But let all these that put their trust in the Lord." There is philosophy for this. A person cannot do any good in a bad world.
If one has a man he cannot reform
him. Every good thing that a man does falls some evil up by the roots.
Good deeds grow by smiles at the wheat grows by the sunshine. Bury the good and the bad will have a poor chance.

It is right to curb the evil if one does not waste all his strength at it, so that he will have to sit down and lose heart.
There is no final defeat in an honest,
sincere effort, and that is the doctrine of the upward look and the bright side of life.

SHOE ODDITIES.

Two Pairs Are Sometimes Broken So
Oblige Finicky Customers.

When a one legged man buys a shoe
the dealer sends to the factory for a shoe to match the one left remaining.
In these days of the use of machinery
in every process of their manufacture shoes are made with the utmost exact-ness and precision, and it is easily possible to mate that remaining shoe with the greatest nicety in size, style, material and finish.

Few people have feet exactly alike.
Commonly the left foot is larger than the right, so that one shoe may fit a little more snugly than the other. Commonly, however, people buy shoes in regularly matched pairs, the difference in their feet, if it is noticeable to them at all, not being enough to make any other course desirable.

But there are people who buy shoes of different sizes or widths, in which case the dealer breaks two pairs for them, giving them, to fit their feet, one shoe from each. In such cases the dealer matches up the two remaining shoes, one from each of two pairs, just as he would where he had broken one pair to sell one shoe to a one legged man.

Halcyon Days.

The seven days preceding and the seven days following the winter solstice were called by the ancients "halcyon days." This phrase is derived from a fable which sets forth that Halcyone, a princess who grieved so deeply for the loss at sea of her spouse, was sent thither in pity in the form of a halcyon bird or kingfisher. According to the legend, the halcyon bird had during the time of breeding the power of tilling the waves, and it was believed at this time the sea was always calm and might be navigated in perfect security. Experience, of course, disproved this fable; but, like many another old world story, it has left behind it a distorted meaning. In this case the connection between the old and the new significance is clear, for the term, once expressive of peace and calm upon the waters, is equally expressive of tranquillity upon the sea of life.

WEIGHT OF A TRAIN.

The Dining Car Alone, Ready For Service, Weighs 140,000 Pounds.

The heaviest of all the cars in a "limited" train is the dining car, which is ordinarily of a weight in excess of the other cars by 10,000 or 15,000 pounds. Between the car construction and the necessary kitchen equipment and ice-box contents, a full size standard dining car tips the scales at 140,000 pounds when ready to make its customary division run.

Therefore, on the principle that in case of collision a passenger is safer in the strong, heavy coach in the center of a vestibuled train, the dining car is a good place to remain.

A sixteen section sleeping car may weigh from 110,000 to 125,000 pounds, while the buffet-library car of the transcontinental type comes next in weight at 107,000 pounds. The baggage car, weighing 85,000 pounds, may be the lightest in a train, but the postal car next to it weighs on an average 103,000 pounds, a reclining chair car is full weight at 87,000 pounds, while the ordinary passenger coach weighs 53,000 pounds.

With a locomotive and tender weighing 280,000 pounds, one may estimate by these figures the enormous weight of some of the through modern railway trains of seven cars.—New York Press

WATCH HER AT DINNER.

A Parisian Gourmet's Way of Getting at a Woman's Age.

A Parisian gourmet thinks he has discovered an infallible method for getting at a woman's age—watch her at dinner.

If she goes through every course, chattering all the time, and is equal to an ice after dessert, not to mention chocolates and crystallized fruits, she is still in her teens.

If she makes a good start with the hors d'oeuvres, does well with the entree, salmon and such delicacies, but shows no interest in the rest of the meal, she is between twenty and thirty and married.

When she declines every other kind of game, but takes some pheasant, she has passed thirty, but has not yet reached thirty-five.

After thirty-five she dotes on every kind of game, the more highly flavored the better.

If at the end of dinner she takes cheese, showing special partiality for the odoriferous Camembert, then, says the Parisian observer, there can be no manner of doubt about it—she is a lady of uncertain age.—Paris Cor. New York Sun.

The Meanest Man Bill.

They were discussing the freak bills that get themselves introduced into congress every year when a Colorado representative said:

"Sometimes I think the greatest boon we could have in this country would be the adoption of a federal statute in accordance with a bill an odd character in Colorado once wanted me to offer to the state legislature. It was entitled the meanest man bill and provided for an election in every county each year to determine who was the meanest man in the county. The man receiving the highest vote was to be hanged. Think of the good such a statute would do! Just consider what decent citizens all the people would be who received a few scattering votes! And those who stood any chance of leading the ticket would move away. In two or three years every place where the law was in operation would become a model community."—New York Press

Music of Street Boys.

One point regarding street music puzzles this writer. How does the average small boy manage to add to his repertoire the latest song from the latest musical comedy within a day or two of its production at a west end theater? It is hardly likely that he attends the theater to hear it at first hand. One can hardly imagine him buying the score to learn it that way. And as for those important factors in musical education, the gramophones, the park bands and the barrel organs, he generally forestalls them by weeks. Whence, then, does he gain his knowledge? It is as mysterious as the passage of news to the Indian bazaar before the official telegrams have arrived.—London Spectator.

Facilities to Economize.

"Our forefathers lived much more simply than we did," said the man who takes everything seriously. "They did not hesitate to economize."

"Yes, but look at the room they had to economize in. You couldn't expect us to churn in a flat or keep chickens and a garden on the fire escape, could you?"—Washington Star.

What a Man Eats.

Mrs. Subbitt—I wonder what's come over Harry. Instead of being cross, as usual, he started off happy and whistling like a bird this morning. Nora a new girl?—It's my fault, mum. I got the wrong package and gave him bird seed for breakfast food.—Woman's Home Companion.

Disappointed.

The Wedding.

"Was the wedding a success?" "Oh, a huge one. Why, women wept bitterly who didn't even know the bride."—Exchange.

A willing mind makes a hard journey easy.—Missluger.

Rev. Harry Willard of Rockport, Ill., was here to attend the family gathering of the Grace M. E. church. Mr. and Mrs. Horatio C. Newcomb of Indianapolis, Ind., are here to attend the Newcomb-Masters wedding. They are guests of their cousin, Superintendent C. P. Gilbert.

Mrs. W. B. McIntyre, who undertook an operation at Passavant hospital was able to return to her home on South Main street Wednesday and is convalescing in a pleasing manner.

Not Extraordinary.
On a Broadway surface car two well dressed women were highly amused at a woman with a baby. As the conductor came along the woman with the child said:

"Hold the baby a minute; I want to tie my shoestring."

He took the youngster and the woman tied the string. Then the conductor gave the baby back to her. As he passed the two well dressed women one of them said:

"You have all sorts of queer passengers on your car, don't you?"

"Yes," he replied.

"Imagine that woman asking you to hold her baby! Wasn't that a crazy thing for her to do?"

"Oh, I don't know," replied the conductor quietly. "That's my baby. The woman's my wife."—New York Telegraph.

Philosophy of the Loafer.
In the Blue Blanket, an Edinburgh civic paper, Dr. Mackenzie describes, somewhat unkindly, the Glasgow loafer under the title "Civic Ideals." "Why should I save?" asked the loafer. "I make enough to keep me going. I make enough to feed me. I have enough over to let me drink up to 10 o'clock. Why should I save? If I grow sick you must take me to the hospital. If I spend all my money and have nothing to eat you must take me to the poorhouse. If I get drunk on the streets you must take me to the police office and the prison. You've got to do it. What is the good of saving?"

Hoping For the Best.
"I expect to be able in about five years to retire and live on the interest of my investments."

"That's fine. But I didn't know you were making investments. What are they?"

"I haven't made any so far, but I have three very beautiful daughters growing up."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Disappointed.
"You say he was disappointed in love?"

"He certainly was."

"But I thought he married the girl he loved."

"So he did. And then he found that two cannot live as cheaply as one."—Houston Post.

SOCIAL EVENTS.

Colonial Inn has been the scene of many elaborate social functions, but none surpassed in beauty and magnificence the bridal golden dinner given there Wednesday evening for the Masters-Newcomb bridal party, by Mrs. S. D. Masters, mother of the bride-to-be. All the appointments were charmingly made, and the luncheon lent a more pleasing and inviting aspect. As the guests entered the hallway, decorations of Easter lilies and sweet scented purple and white flowers greeted them; in the parlor pink was the prevailing color and green in the library. The decorations in the spacious dining room were most artistically arranged in the center of the room was the large circular table around which the twenty-five guests sat. In the center of the table was a large heart, nearly eighteen feet in circumference. In the center of this heart were five hundred natural, how tulips, the outer edge of the heart being lighted with a myriad of tiny yellow incandescent lights. Apple-hair ferns were also used in decorating the edge of the immense heart. Directly above this heart, suspended two feet from the ceiling, was a shower heart of the same size. It had a white background, covered in multi-hair ferns and fern leaves. From this heart, suspended by golden cords, were dainty white and gold hearts, white and gold cupids and white and gold butterflies. The shower heart was also decorated with yellow incandescent lights, making a beautiful effect.

Running from the heart on the table to each plate were silk gold gauze ribbons. In front of the plates of both the bride and the groom were large heart shaped cakes. The bride's cake was decorated with a gold heart raised a short distance from the cake, on which was wrought the word "Mary." The groom's cake was similar, except the gold heart contained the word "Ray." The napkins at each plate had the letters "N" and "M" embroidered in gold and attached to each napkin was a favor, a pin fastened to cupids and gold hearts. At the edge of the napkins were little cupids to which were attached yellow gauze ribbons with bows, which hung down over the edge of the table. Other favors at each plate were little square souvenir gold baskets tied with yellow ribbon and a smaller sized round basket, containing a dipped strawberry bon-bon, also a salted nut case in the form of a tulip. The larger gold baskets, cleverly tied with ribbon contained each an 18kt chocolate. The satin covered heart boxes contained the monograms "N and M" in raised gold and on the corner of the box was placed a gold ring upon which sat a tiny dove. The individual bride's cake and groom's cake were placed on gold leaf dollies, upon which were made little gold and white hearts. Gold keys tied with yellow ribbons were part of the favors, significant of good luck and love.

The place cards contained the names of the bride-to-be and the groom-to-be, written in full, in raised gold letters, on white satin ribbon. Through an end of the ribbon was placed a tulip with a cupid head inside the tulip. All the chairs were handsomely covered with white cloth, tied with gold bows. The side board was decorated with cut glass, tulips and candelabra of yellow shades. The lights throughout glass, tulips and candelabra of yellow color, giving an added charm to the splendor of the magnificent decorations.

A gold service was used throughout the entire dinner, which consisted of nine courses of the finest menu, served in a faultless manner. The ice cream was served in handsome gold cupids. At its close the bride's cake, and the groom's cake, were passed around in opposite directions. Each cake contained a ring, key, darning needle, thimble, dime, button, gold mitten. Each guest cut for a favor and no little merriment reigned during the cutting. As the loving cup was passed, each guest arose and recited an appropriate toast.

The bride's gift to the groom was a scarf pin with pearls and diamond set in platinum; to the maid of honor, a pendant and chain of seed pearl, and to the bride's maids, seed pearl pendants. Her gifts to Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Taylor were silver vanity cases. The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome pendant of diamonds set in platinum, of his own design, and the gifts to the best man and ushers were silver card cases beautifully monogrammed.

The pleasure of the evening was greatly enhanced by the splendid music, furnished by the Vickery & Merrigan seven-piece orchestra and a flash light picture was taken while the guests were seated. In every way the occasion was one of marked pleasure and keen enjoyment.

The guests present were as follows: Mrs. S. D. Masters, Miss Mary Masters, Dr. Ray Newcomb, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Taylor, Miss Helen Phelps, Mr. H. H. Love, Miss Mazy Condit, Dr. H. L. Connor, Miss Ina Harber, Mr. George Oren, Miss Helen Lewis, Dr. J. A. A. Bisminger.

The regular meeting of the East Side Tuesday club was held April 9 at the home of Mrs. George Smith on Finlay avenue. Mrs. T. L. Atkinson gave a book review of "The Secret Garden and Popular Novels," which was very interesting and instructive, members giving squibs from the new book.

for Miss Lena Goebel. The party was in the form of a handkerchief shower and the hours were most delightfully spent. The guests were asked to write recipes for domestic happiness and various ideas of wedded bliss came to light. During the afternoon announcement was made of the date of Miss Goebel's wedding, May 15. This was done by means of dainty hand painted shells upon which the date was printed. Light refreshments were served and the cutting of the bride's cake caused much merriment. Only intimate friends of Miss Goebel were present.

CAUGHT WITH THE GOODS.

Climax to the Tiff Between the Lady and Her Husband.

The man and his wife, or perhaps it might be more proper these days to say the lady and her husband, had been having one of those cute little breakfast table chats wherein husband and wife twit each other about their relatives and get very personal in their observations. These things happen in the best regulated families occasionally.

The argument had grown heated and had reached the point where the wife usually makes up her mind to go home to mother when the telephone bell rang. The wife answered the telephone. A sweet voice asked over the phone:

"Are you having trouble?"
"Well, of all things!" snapped the wife in reply. "What if we are? It's none of your business."

"Oh, yes, it is some of my business. Locating trouble is the only thing I do."

"Well, you've got a nerve," replied the wife. "The idea of butting into private family matters like that!"
"If you had reported your trouble to me I would have had it attended to. One of your neighbors reported it."

"One of the neighbors? Great Scott! Could the neighbors hear it?"

"Your neighbor reported it this morning."

"Well, I'd thank my neighbors to attend to their own affairs. My husband and I settle our difficulties without help from them or from you. Who are you anyway?"

"I am calling you from the trouble department of the telephone company. The neighbor reported that there was something wrong with your phone."

"For the love of Mike!" shrieked the wife as she dropped the telephone receiver and nearly fainted away.

DICKENS AS AN ACTOR.

When Boz Became a Writer the Stage Lost a Star.

No one ever paid a much higher tribute to Dickens than did Kate Field. She had the soul of a poet, a discriminating taste in art and literature and wide knowledge of the world. In mentality she was fully as strong as either of her brilliant brothers, David Dudley, Stephen J. or Cyrus W., and she certainly was as good if not a better judge of character.

She once wrote an appreciation of Dickens in which she declared the world lost its greatest actor when Boz became a writer. She gave a description of one of the Dickens readings in New York that was masterly in its vividness of detail. Such versatility as she credited Dickens with displaying as he assumed the character of first one and then another of his creations, the pathos, the humor, the tragedy he put into a tone; the marvelous way in which he stirred the emotions of old and young in his audience, would appear to be a bit extravagant were it not that now and then some old man, looked upon as stern and unemotional, tells with faltering voice how he stood in line all one night to buy a ticket to one of Boz's readings and then goes on to talk just about as Miss Field wrote, only before he gets far along in his story the tears are running down his wrinkled cheeks—his old heartstrings still attune to the magic of the master as he saw him.—New York Press.

WAVERLY CHILD ATE STRYCHNINE

Son of Mrs. Lillie Burch Mistook Heart Tablets for Candy—Died a Half Hour Later.

Lowell Emmet Burch, the little son of Mrs. Lillie Burch of Waverly, ate ten strychnine tablets, mistaking them for candy, and died at 11:30 o'clock Wednesday morning, thirty minutes after he had taken the medicine. The tablets were some that Mrs. Burch had been using as a heart stimulant and she had taken care to keep them on a shelf in a cupboard out of reach of the child, but in some manner the little boy got hold of them. After eating them the child went into the house and said "Candy, mamma, candy." This caused the mother to wonder what the child had found and she went into the room where he had been playing and discovered the jar, which had contained the tablets, lying on the floor empty.

When the mother returned to the child he was in great pain and soon went into convulsions. Mustard water was given him, but it seemed to bring no relief. Mrs. Burch then went to call a neighbor, Mrs. Rickard, and Dr. M. F. Woods was also summoned. By the time the doctor reached the home the child was dead. The mother is almost prostrate with grief over the sudden death of her child. She has the sincere sympathy of the community.

Conor G. V. Skinner was notified and went at once to Waverly, holding the inquest Wednesday afternoon. The jury was composed of J. M. Criswell, foreman; B. H. Burch, J. E. Watts, H. S. Burch, F. G. Burch and W. E. Swift. The verdict was that the child came to his death by eating strychnine tablets, which he got by accident, the tablets being some that Dr. M. F. Wood had left the mother to take and which she thought she had in a safe place. The witnesses were Mrs. Burch, Mrs. Rickard, George Thomas Jolly and Dr. Woods.

Mr. Jolly, who is also a neighbor, hearing that the baby had become suddenly sick went to the Burch home and was there when the child died.

PORTRAYED AS PONTIUS PILATE

ROOSEVELT PLACED IN THAT ROLE BY SENATOR JONES.

Speech Brought About by Former President in Detroit Speech Condemning Votes of Members of Lorimer Committee in Exonerating Illinois Senator.

Washington, April 10.—Col. Roosevelt was portrayed in the senate to day as the counterpart of Pontius Pilate.

The picture was drawn by Senator Jones, of Washington, who sketched as the ground work the recent Detroit speech of the former president condemning the votes of the majority members of the Lorimer committee, favorable to the Illinois senator, as not being responsive to the sentiment of their constituencies.

"This is the latest rule for judicial action suggested by this self-proclaimed leader of progress," said Senator Jones. "Because we have not followed it we are not progressive, but reactionary. This was the rule of action followed by Pilate nearly nineteen hundred years ago. This is the first time, I venture to say, in our history or in the history of any civilized people, that Pilate's rule of judicial action has met the approval of any man save those who would crucify Jesus, and only despise him for following it."

"If former President Roosevelt had been standing on one side when Pilate delivered Jesus to the Jews, after having examined into the charges and found no fault in him, but at the demand of the people, turned him over to them for crucifixion, he would have clapped his hands and exclaimed 'Most Righteous, Most Honorable, Most Just Judge.' At least he would have done this if he had been as progressive then as he is now. I am charitable enough to believe, however, that he would have been a reactionary."

Senator Jones prefaced his speech by saying that those who expected to hear the sensational would be disappointed and that those expecting a discussion of the presidential campaign need not listen. He said he would not discuss politics. He recited rapidly conditions which made the present time prosperous, but said that with everything that makes us happy "we are engaged in a saturnalia of political vituperation."

"Justice and fair dealing are thrown to the winds," he added. "Appeals to passion and prejudice displace reason and logic. Villenness and corruption are sought for eagerly and we rejoice if we are successful in our search. Senator motives prompt those who disagree with us and none is good save ourselves. Under the banner of progression, anarchy is preached in honeyed phrase and fulsome flattery. Our sense of justice and fairness is denuded by loud declamation and insidious suggestion. Until a short time ago supposedly new ideas, as old as governments among men, were advocated with some show of reason and prudence."

"A new Richmond, however, has rushed upon the political field. The real, consistent, faithful leader of radical political thought, whose courage, consistency and faithfulness we all admired, even if we did not accept the doctrines advocated became ill and exhausted. The banner he was faithfully and bravely carrying was drooping."

"This new Richmond rushed upon the political scene, threw his hat into the ring, and shouted to the wavering hosts to follow him in the highways of progress. Victories were being won where others had none, he sought to pluck the fruit of victory to his own bosom. Having worked and won with despised standpatters, and not being practiced in the principles of modern political progress, he, with the recklessness of ignorance and the rashness of the new convert, is attempting to all what has been selfish and unjust in the apparent hope of gratifying an insatiable ambition."

"In his campaign for place and power he seems to have forgotten the honors bestowed upon him by his party and by the people of the country. He seems to be unmindful of the dignity and deportment of one who filled the most exalted position in the gift of man. We respect and tolerate the actions and utterances of the ordinary politician but it is a shock to our people to see their idol seeking place and power by appealing to passions, prejudices and hatreds and whose most powerful argument is denunciation of the motives and honesty of those who oppose him. He would substitute the biased, warped and inflamed opinions of the multitude for the judgment of those acting in a judicial capacity based on sworn evidence, weighed and balanced by those rules and principles which have been brought forth from the crucible of time to insure justice to the poor and the rich; the weak and the strong."

"Senator Jones said he did not propose to discuss the judicial recall, but would notice only the latest suggestion advanced or the guidance of those acting in a judicial capacity. He then quoted at some length from Col. Roosevelt's comment upon the Lorimer case in his speech of March 30 at Detroit, wherein the former president charged that Senators Dillingham, Gamble and Jones were reactionaries because they recommended that Lorimer be permitted to retain his seat. Senator Jones said: 'This argument may have caused the fancy of those who listened without grasping the full significance of the statement made, but no proposition was ever advanced by the wildest anarchist more subversive of the principles of human justice, or human rights and good government than the principal suggestion contained in this statement.'"

Senator Jones argued at length that the constituents of the senators named would want them to vote on the Lorimer case according to their own consciences. He said he did not believe there could be found within his state one who is such a reactionary as to approve "the rule of judicial action practiced by Pontius Pilate."

Mr. Roosevelt made the suggestion seriously, it is shocking. If he made it ignorantly it is pitiable. If he made it to secure votes, it is despicable. "You will note that this is not a suggestion that the judges should decide a case according to their judgment of the law and the evidence and then to allow the people to pass upon it. It goes further than that. It suggests that the people shall make the decision, that the judge shall disregard the law and the evidence and try to ascertain what he thinks the people desire to be done in the case and then act in accordance with what he believes is their judgment. This proposition is so extreme, so shocking, so contrary to all principles of enlightened jurisprudence, so antagonistic to the basic principles of judicial action that have been brought forth in the crucible of time for the protection of life, liberty and property that I cannot conceive of the state of mind or the purpose that prompted its utterance. I leave this mystery for the people themselves to solve."

"If this rule is to be followed then judges must instruct juries that they are not to decide cases upon the law and the evidence submitted to them but they must endeavor to find out what the public sentiment is with reference to the matter at issue and decide it in accordance with that. Judges, instead of instructing the jury as to what the law is, should try to tell them what the public sentiment is."

Senator Jones said he had wondered a few weeks ago why it was that attorneys would not allow Col. Roosevelt to act as a juror. He added: "I understand now."

In the debate which followed, Senator Owen of Oklahoma proclaimed that Pilate was "an unspeakable scoundrel and a stand-pat, pie-eating politician from Rome."

The senator read copious extracts from the Bible as he spoke. Senator Owen declared that Jones had mistaken the character of Pilate and the proceedings in the trial of Jesus and that Pilate was neither an upright judge nor a progressive.

Senator Jones interrupted to say that he had not defended Pilate nor criticized Christ. Senator Owen asserted that the essence of the doctrine was the moving force in the world-wide progressive movement of the day and that the dent of thieves which Christ had referred to in a part of the scriptures was a part of the political machine of the hierarchy of Jerusalem with which common people had nothing to do. The ordinary people, he said, had not caused a reversal of Pilate's better judgment. That had been brought about by the temple thieves led by the priests.

"In view of these facts," shouted Senator Owen, "but we have no more of that Pontius Pilate business." He said he would have had both Pilate and his judgment recalled.

LINCOLN'S RETORT.

Caustic Answer to an Opponent at a Political Meeting.

Herndon, his law partner, tells the story of Lincoln's encounter with one Mr. Forquer, who had suddenly changed from the Whig to the Democratic faith and had been rewarded with a fat political office. Forquer had thereupon built himself an elaborate home in Springfield and over it had erected a lightning rod, the only one in the place and the first one Lincoln had ever seen.

Once at a political meeting Forquer set himself to "take down" the presumptuous young man of elongated stature and ready tongue. "His reply to Forquer," says Herndon's informant, "was characterized by great dignity and force. I shall never forget the conclusion of that speech."

"The gentleman has seen fit to allude to my being a young man, but he forgets that I am older in years than I am in tricks and trades of politicians. I desire to live, and I desire peace and distinction, but I would rather die now than, like the gentleman, live to see the day that I would change my politics for an office worth $3,000 a year and then feel compelled to erect a lightning rod to protect a guilty conscience from an offended God."—New York Post.

BETWEEN TWO VISITS.

The Great Change That Came Over the Poor Little Fat Boy.

Sir Francis Chantrey, the famous sculptor of Georgian days, whose bequest for the encouragement of art is now famous as the "Chantrey trust," is the subject of a very pleasing story told in Lady Chatterton's diary:

"Last week I met Sir Francis Chantrey and Luttrell at Rogers' house. Lady Dufferin, Mrs. Damer, Lord Lansdowne and Lord Glenelg were there. After breakfast Chantrey pointed out a sideboard and said to Rogers: 'Do you remember a poor little fat boy in a common workman's dress who came one morning many, many years ago to take some order about that sideboard?'

"Yes, I do," said Rogers, 'for I thought what a fine head and intelligent look the poor boy had.'

"Well, he is the now celebrated sculptor, who not only goes to all the best houses in London, but gives parties that people are so good as to call pleasant, where all the highest and most intellectual people honor him with their presence. Can you guess who it is? Well," Chantrey added, 'that cabinetmaker's apprentice was myself.'"

A Conscientious Jury.

On one occasion a native in Kali, Hawaii, cheated a neighbor out of a small sum of money. The community was indignant and determined that the guilty party should be punished. The day of the trial came; the testimony was conclusive; the judge closed his charge, reminding the jury that "it takes nine to convict," for a three-fourths majority was required instead of a unanimous jury. It was thought that the twelve might decide in the box, but the Hawaiian likes form, and they gravely withdrew to the jury room. They were gone an unreasonable time. At length the judge, impatient, sent to find out what in the world was the matter and discovered this predicament: All twelve were for conviction, and no three could be induced to vote for the defendant.

Mending Screens.

Few repairs are more conspicuous or annoying than ugly patches on screen doors or windows. When a screen is broken first make the broken place a neat, trim oblong hole with wire cutters. Then from a piece of screen cut a patch two inches larger than the opening. Ravel the wires for half an inch all around this piece and bend the wires thus left at right angles. Holding the patch carefully in place, push the bent wires through the screen and secure the patch by bending the wires back evenly and smoothly. The patch will be hardly noticeable when completed.—National Magazine.

The Reason of It.

"Have you seen Joe lately?" "Why, yes. I saw the old chap yesterday. And, what do you think, he's going to be married?" "Can it be possible? To whom?" "He's going to marry Mary Merrie." "What! Why, I didn't know they knew each other." "They don't. That's why they're going to be married."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Peevish Child Needs a Laxative

It is natural for a child to laugh and play and when it sulkily drowsily or cries you may depend on it something physical is the matter. If you see no evidence of a serious ailment you will not be wrong if you quietly give it a dose of mild laxative that evening on putting it to bed.

The remedy most generally recommended for this purpose is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which mothers throughout the country have been giving their children for a quarter of a century. Today thousands of families are using it where hundreds used it then, and there must be good reason for this word of mouth recommendation.

It is admittedly the perfect laxative for children, women, old people and all others who need a gentle bowel stimulant and not a violent salt, cathartic pill or doctored water. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will act gently, and when taken before retiring will bring complete satisfaction in the morning.

After a short use of this remedy all forms of outside aid can be dispensed with and nature will again act alone.

All classes of good American people keep it in the home for ill of the stomach, liver and bowels, and among the thousands who have written the doctor that they will never be without it are Mrs. L. W. Thompson, Pearl City, Ill., and Mrs. Ed. Bettcher, 273 N. Union St., Aurora, Ill. A dose of it has saved many a person from a serious illness.

Anyone wishing to make a trial of this remedy before buying it in the regular dollar a large bottle (family size) can have a sample bottle sent to the home free of charge by simply addressing Dr. W. H. Caldwell, 405 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Your name and address on a postal card will do.

TWO STRANGE WOMEN.

What They Would Do if Clothed Together For a Night.

Edna Ferber writes a fiction story in the American Magazine in which the principal character is Emma McClesney, a traveling saleswoman. On one of her trips she took her son with her, a boy of seventeen. This boy had to spend the night with a stranger in a country hotel. Next morning his mother asked him about his roommate. The boy knew very little, not even the name of the man with whom he stayed, whereupon Emma McClesney broke out as follows:

"Men are the curstest creatures. This chap occupied the same room with you last night and you don't even know his name. Funny! If two strange women had found themselves occupying the same room for a night they wouldn't have got to the kimono and back half stage before they would know not only each other's name, but they'd have tried on each other's hats, swapped corset cover patterns, found mutual friends living in Dayton, O., taught each other a new Irish croquet stitch, showed their family photographs, told how their married sister's little girl nearly died with swollen glands and divided off the mirror into two sections to paste their newly washed handkerchiefs on. Don't tell me men have a genius for friendship."

SUSPENSION BRIDGES.

They Were Common in Peru in the Days of the Incas.

Suspension bridges, some of them of considerable length, were common in Peru in the days of the Incas. They were formed of cables of twisted osiers passed over wooden supports and stretched from bank to bank, then bound together with smaller ropes and covered with bamboo. The road from Cuzco to Quito is still noted for trail bridges of this sort, which are in constant use and span deep chasms.

The Chinese also, according to Kireher, have for centuries been familiar with the "suspension" theory and have constructed chain bridges in which the weight of the roadway is supported by the tension of the chains.

The first iron suspension bridge in Europe was built over the Tees, near Middleton, in 1741, for the use of miners. Two chains were stretched in a straight line, steepled by ties from the banks below, and the roadway for foot passengers was supported by the chains.

The modern suspension system practically dates from 1816, when bridges, both over 100 feet in length, were successfully completed at Galashiels and Peebles.—London Standard.

Barefooted Children.

People who visit Mrs. R. for the first time usually look surprised, and some have been known to make hysterical exclamations if while they are under the hospitable roof they get a glimpse of the children, a boy of five and a girl about two years younger. To the friends of the family they are known as the "little barefoots," for they have never worn shoes or stockings except when they are in the street. When the boy was learning to walk, the mother explains often, he showed a tendency to "toe in," and by the advice of a physician the baby shoes were cast off. The remedy was so effective that shoes are now used for street wear only. "The children take them off," said the mother, "when they come in the house, as we do our gloves, and we all think they are better for doing so."—New York Tribune.

It Pleased the Composer.

A curious story is told as to how the Rothschilds supported Carafa, the composer. The latter was far from rich. His principal income was derived from a snuffbox. And this was the way of it: The snuffbox was given to the author of "La Prison d'Edinburgh" by Baron James de Rothschild as a token of esteem. Carafa sold it twenty-four hours later for 75 napoleons to the same jeweler from whom it had been bought. This became known to Rothschild, who gave it again to the musician on the following year. The next day it returned to the jeweler. This traffic continued till the death of the banker and longer still, for his sons kept up the tradition, to the great satisfaction of Carafa.

Reversed the Terms.

An old negro who lived on a southern plantation went to the nearby city for a visit and while there went to see his young "master," who was living in the city at the time. On his return the young man's mother asked if he was in good spirits.

"Well, mum," responded the old negro, "I reckon I'll 'press it a little different an' say I'd good spirits wuz in Marse Jeems."—Exchange.

"I should like to open an account at this bank, if you please."

"We shall be glad to accommodate you, madam. What amount do you wish to deposit?"

"Oh, but I mean a charge account, such as I have at the big dry goods stores."—Chicago Tribune.

Cookery Points

For Breakfast.

The simple dishes following will be found wholesome, nourishing and economical and an appetizing change from the stereotyped porridge, eggs and bacon, etc., for breakfast.

Oatmeal With Dates.—To each cup of uncooked oatmeal add one cup of dates, washed, with the stones removed and cut small. Cook in the usual way in a double saucepan and serve with milk without sugar, as the dates are sweet enough.

Kidney Fritters.—Take the requisite number of sheep's kidneys, half a pint of frying batter, seasoning and frying fat. Skin and cut each kidney in half. Take the frying batter and stir into it one teaspoonful each of minced parsley and shallot, a dusting of red pepper and a small pinch of powdered sweet herbs. Dip each half kidney in this mixture, then drop carefully into a pan of boiling fat, doing only a few at a time. When light golden brown in color, take out the fritters, drain carefully and serve as quickly as possible, garnished with parsley on a hot dish.

Scotch Scones.—Half a pound of flour, one level teaspoonful of cream of tartar, half a level teaspoonful of carbonate of soda, one ounce and a half of butter, one teaspoonful of sugar, a quarter of a pint of milk. Mix the flour, cream of tartar and carbonate of soda and sift them together; rub the butter into the flour, add the sugar and mix to a paste with the milk. Roll out and cut with a small round cutter or make a large round scone and cut into four sections. Bake in a good oven for about twenty minutes. The real Scotch scones are baked on a sort of griddle, and some housekeepers have been known to cook them on a well floured frying pan.

Compote of Rhubarb.—The early rhubarb is best for compotes and forms a most wholesome breakfast dish. Cut the sticks into two inch lengths and carefully wipe them. Make a sirup color with cochineal and flavor with lemon peel. When boiling put in the rhubarb and simmer very slowly till tender. Remove the fruit, reduce the sirup and pour over the fruit. This should be made the previous day and served cold.

Beef a la Mode.

Take a round of beef, four or five pounds thick. For a piece weighing five pounds soak a pound of bread in cold water until soft; turn off the water, mash the bread fine, then add a piece of butter the size of an egg, a half teaspoonful each of salt, pepper and ground cloves, about half a nutmeg, two eggs, a tablespoonful of flour and a quarter of a pound of fresh pork chopped fine. Gash the beef on the sides and, together with half the dressing, place it in a baking pan, with lukewarm water enough to cover it. Cover the pan and put in the oven two hours, then cover the top with the rest of the dressing and put it back for an hour. Let it brown well. When serving the meat, if the gravy is not thick enough, stir in a little flour and add a little butter.

Orange and Ginger Sherbet.

Put two pounds of sugar and two quarts of water in a saucepan on to boil, stir until the sugar is dissolved, then boil rapidly for eight minutes. Remove from the fire and leave to cool. When cold add the strained juice of six oranges and one lemon, pour into the freezer and freeze without much turning. When frozen add five table spoonfuls of preserving ginger chopped fine, cover the freezing can and stand away for two hours to ripen. Serve in dainty glasses decorated with a piece of ginger on top of each glass.

Poor Man's Rice Pudding.

An old fashioned Indian pudding served with cream is delicious enough for the richest palate. Here is a long tried rule: Mix four cupfuls of scalding milk, a cupful of molasses, two level table spoonfuls of sugar, a quarter of a cupful of corn meal, a table spoonful of flour and a little salt. Let this mixture simmer over the stove for about half an hour, stirring often enough to keep from burning and lumpy. At the end of this time stir in a cupful of cold water, turn into a baking dish and bake for two hours.

A Tasty Sandwich.

It was the memory of a childhood appetite which inspired a woman to serve brown bread sandwiches spread with horseradish and sugar with her afternoon tea. The snappy pungency of the horseradish was very delightful. The horseradish had, of course, been mixed with vinegar, the slightest possible amount used, and it was sprinkled lightly with powdered sugar. The brown bread was made of whole wheat and graham flour and was cut as thin as possible.

For Afternoon Tea.

Many hostesses this spring are serving with afternoon tea the tiniest little hot baking powder biscuits, not larger than a fifty cent piece. They are usually buttered and spread with maple sugar or with a paste made of the sugar and chopped hickory nuts, but some prefer to use a filling of peach marmalade or thick cheese. Biscuit halves spread with grated cheese and toasted brown are the specialty of one hostess.

SENATOR VANCE'S WIT.

The Trick He Turned on a Rival in a Campaign Meeting.

The late Senator Vance used to say that his liveliest campaign for the governorship of North Carolina was that in which Judge Settle ran against him. They stumped the state in joint debate. All the white Democrats turned out to hear Vance and all the colored Republicans to hear Settle. On one occasion Vance was informed that some young ladies desired to testify their devotion to the Democratic party by kissing the Democratic candidate for governor. Nothing loath, Vance descended from the platform and kissed a dozen or so of the young beauties and then paused long enough to turn around toward his competitor and shout, "Settle, I'm kissing my girls; now kiss yours."

When he married the second time he said to his wife on their wedding day: "My dear, I'm a stubborn fellow, and you may anticipate trouble. Now, in the beginning, while I am submissive, I want to give you one piece of advice. If you follow it we'll get on mighty well. It is this: Make me do just as I darned please."

A newspaper man who was about starting for a rather out of the way portion of Vance's own state was asking him one day what kind of accommodation he was likely to find. "They'll give you some of their fried hog and eggs," the senator replied. "That's better than nothing," said the newspaper man. "I don't know—I don't know," the senator answered in a dubious tone. "I've tried both."—Argonaut.

KEEN SIGHTED GULLS.

Tests That Proved the Wonderful Vision of the Birds.

There is perhaps no other bird of land or sea so keen of sight as the common gull. To convince a skeptical friend of this, an American naturalist once made some interesting experiments.

The two men were passengers on a steamer where the spring ebb added them to run twenty miles an hour. A dozen gulls followed them. The steamer's wake without apparent effort and circled in graceful curves over the water.

Breaking a cracker biscuit into four parts less than an inch square each, the naturalist handed one piece to his friend and told him to drop it into the seething waters on the starboard.

Immediately the bit of biscuit became invisible to human eyes, and yet before it had gone thirty yards astern a gull detected it and, dipping into the foam, secured it. One by one it picked up the other bits of biscuit, though neither of the two men could see them.

Tearing off a postage stamp from an old envelope, the naturalist dropped it overboard. The gull detected the waif and made as if to pick it up. But when within a yard or so of it the bird saw that it was nothing in his line and glided upward again to his favorite station on a line with the topmost track.—New York Tribune.

Bizet's Red Ribbon.

Bizet, the author of the popular opera "Carmen," who died a month after its first production, was not at any time a lucky man. He was even decorated through a mistake, says a writer, "for his friends, presaging the failure of 'Carmen,' bombarded the minister before the production and begged a decoration for M. George Bizet. 'Bizet?' asked the minister. 'Who is Bizet?' 'A remarkable genius,' was the reply, 'who has already produced several extraordinary fine works. Among them the most popular is perhaps 'L'Arlesienne.' 'L'Arlesienne?' Interrupted the minister. 'Why, it is a perfectly fascinating book. I read it with extreme pleasure. Tell your friends that the thing is done.' The minister was not mistaken, but he had read a novel by Alphonse Daudet, and Bizet won his red ribbon."

Real Chivalry.

Men passengers in the old horse omnibuses of years ago had greater opportunities than at present of showing their politeness to women, especially on wet nights. One remembers the conductor's request as he swung his dripping form from the "monkey board" to the doorway.

"Will any gentleman ride outside to oblige a woman?" And there was always the gentleman whose chivalry prompted him to give up his seat, climb the steep steps to the "knife board" on top and complete his journey in the pouring rain.—London Standard.

Nature.

Nature is the armory of genius. Cities serve it poorly, books and colleges at second hand. The eye craves the spectacle of the horizon, of mountain, ocean, river and plain, the clouds and stars, actual contact with the elements, sympathy with the seasons as they rise and roll.—Alcott.

One Idea of Entertainment.

"Isn't that Mrs. Templeton Brown the most entertaining creature?"

"I noticed the crowd around her. What was she talking about?"

"Why, about the awful things that happened to her when she was in the hospital."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Only Fault.

"Is your husband a good man?"

"Yes, he's a good man. I can't complain. But he always sneaks out the back way whenever the minister calls."—Washington Herald.

What the superior man seeks is in himself. What the small man seeks is in others.—Confucius.

S.S.S. CURES ECZEMA, ACNE, TETTER ETC.

While Eczema, Acne, Tetter, Salt Rheum, etc., are troubles which affect the skin, their cause is far deeper than the outside cuticle. These afflictions are caused by irritating humors, or uratic acid in the blood. Such impurities induce and irritate the delicate net-work of fibrous tissue which lies just beneath the surface of the outer skin, and the inflammatory discharge thus produced is forced out through the pores and glands, and is continually kept up while the blood remains infected. This exudation causes the formation of scales and crusts so often seen in Eczema, and when they are scratched off the flesh is left raw and more susceptible to other infection. It can very readily be seen then that to produce a cure the circulation must be purified and cleansed. This S.S.S. will do. It goes down to the very bottom, removes all humors and impurities, neutralizes the excessive acids of the system and in this way removes the cause of disease. Local applications can only soothe the irritation and assist in keeping the skin clean; they never produce a cure because such treatment does not reach the blood. S.S.S. restores to the thin, acid blood all its lost properties, makes it pure and rich and enables it to nourish the skin and keep it soft, smooth and healthy. OUR GREENBACK FACTORY.

Where Uncle Sam Turns Out Paper Money and Postage Stamps.

One of the most interesting sights at the national capital to the hundreds of thousands of strangers who yearly visit Washington is the bureau of engraving and printing, where the government turns out immense amounts of the paper money which we daily see in circulation.

Much of this paper money—greenbacks and gold and silver certificates—is issued directly by the government itself, while the remainder is prepared for issue by the national banks throughout the country. These issues are printed from engraved steel plates of the finest workmanship on a peculiar, distinctive paper, which, it is said, counterfeiters have never yet been able to imitate. This establishment also produces government bonds whenever there is a call for such. In addition, postage stamps are manufactured there in vast quantities, recently at the rate of 30,000,000 a day or about 10,000,000,000 per year. This aggregate bids fair to increase annually and in time to reach huge proportions.

While the products of the bureau are interesting, the mechanical devices employed by it are most ingenious, comprising many automatic machines of wonderful efficiency. The utmost vigilance is exercised in guarding the products of the bureau, and generally everything proceeds there in the most systematic and efficient manner.—Leslie's.

CHINESE SIGNBOARDS.

Quaint Inscriptions That Appear Over the Shops in Peking.

In his book, "Meeting the Sun," W. Simpson gives some amusing examples of signboards to be seen above shops in Peking—"Shop of Heaven Sent Luck," "The Shop of Celestial Principles," "The Nine Felicities Prolonged," "Mutton Shop of Morning Twilight," "The Ten Virtues All Complete," "Flowers Rise to the Milky Way." "In these signs," says Mr. Simpson, "we can see that the Chinaman can combine the soul of a poet with the pocket of a shopman. Carlyle quotes a Chinese signboard, 'No Cheating Here,' but I could not find anything like it in the list. 'Good and Just According to Heaven' ought to satisfy the ideal notions of the author of 'Sartor Resartus.' 'The Honest Pen Shop of Li' implies that other pen shops are not honest."

"The Steel Shop of the Pockmarked Wang" suggests that any peculiarity of a shopman may be used to impress the memory of the customers. A charcoal shop calls itself 'The Fountain of Beauty,' and a place for the sale of coal indulges in the title of 'Heavenly Embroidery.' An oil and wine establishment is the 'Neighborhood of Chief Beauty,' a description the realization of which it is hard to conceive anywhere in Peking. 'The Three Righteous' is a pretension one would scarcely expect from an opium shop."

Dickens Used Real Names. Perhaps the most curious of Dickens' character names is Stiggins, for Stiggins, which by Dickens' exertions has become a synonym for religious hypocrisy, is a real name and one, oddly enough, with religious associations of a genuine kind. Stiggins is, in fact, only a corruption of the name Stigand, the famous archbishop, who crowned King Harold and later on William I. Most of the names in "Pickwick" can be found in the directory. Pickwick himself, as we know, was taken from a coach at Bath, and the village of the name is still there, and it is not so very long ago that Mr. Dickens, K. C., called and examined a Mr. Pickwick in a law case. Snodgrass was once a fairly common English name and can still be found in America. Whikle and Tuppman are real names, and a Sam Weller is buried at Eastbourne.

The Dead Sea.

Many persons imagine that the Dead sea in Syria is nothing but sea water of extreme saltiness, but that is a mistake. The name was given to the great salt lake because nothing could live in its waters. Owing to the density of the water fish cannot sink in it, and they could not live if they did, as some of the salts are powerful antiseptics, which means that they are fatal to any form of life. There is about 3 per cent of chloride of lime in the Dead sea. About half the salt in the Dead sea is chloride of magnesium, whereas nearly all the salt in the ocean is just common table salt.—New York Sun.

HIS GREAT FIGHT.

The Fierce and Bloody Duel That Won "Wild Bill" His Name.

ATTACKED BY TEN OUTLAWS.

He Boldly Faced the Desperadoes, Using His Guns and His Bowie Knife, and When the Smoke of Battle Cleared Eight of His Foes Were Dead.

In the "Story of the Outlaw," by Emerson Hough, is a thrilling account of the desperate and sanguinary encounter against overwhelming odds that won "Wild Bill" his name and marked him as one of the most fearless and reckless fighting men that ever faced a mob, drew a gun or swung a bowie knife.

The real name of Wild Bill was James Butler Hickok. He was eighteen years old when he first saw the west as a fighting man under Jim Lane, finally in the year 1861 settling down as station agent for the Overland at Rock Creek station, about fifty miles west of Topeka.

He was really there as a guard for the horse band, for all that region was full of horse thieves and cutthroats. It was here that occurred his greatest fight, the greatest fight of one man against odds at close range that is mentioned in any history of any part of the world.

Two border outlaws—the McCandless boys—leading a gang of bad men, intended to run off with the stage company's horses. When they found that they could not induce Bill to join their number they left him with curses and threats.

As they rode away Bill told them to come and take the horses if they could, and on the afternoon of Dec. 16, 1861, ten of them rode to his dugout to do so. Bill was alone, his stableman being away hunting. He retreated into the dark interior of his dugout and got ready his weapons, a rifle, two six-shooters and a knife.

The assailants proceeded to batter in the door with a log, and as it fell in Jim McCandless, who must have been a brave man to undertake so foolhardy a thing against a man already known as a killer, sprang in at the opening. He, of course, was killed at once.

This exhausted the rifle, and Bill picked up the sixshooters from the table and in three quick shots killed three more of the gang as they rushed in at the door. Four men were dead in less than half a minute, but there were still six others left, all inside the dugout now, and all firing at him at a range of three feet.

It was almost a miracle that under such surroundings the man was not killed. Bill was now crowded too much to use his firearms and took to the bowie, thrusting at one man and another as best he might. It must have been several minutes that all seven of them were mixed in a mass of shooting, thrusting, parrying and gasping humanity.

Then Jack McCandless swung his rifle barrel and struck Bill over the head, springing upon him with his knife as well. Bill got his hand on a six shooter and killed McCandless just as he would have struck.

After that no one knows what happened, not even Bill himself. "I just got sort of wild," Bill said, describing it. "I thought my heart was on fire. I went out to the pump then to get a drink, and I was all cut and shot to pieces."

They called him Wild Bill after that, and he had earned the name. There were six dead men on the floor of the dugout. He had fairly whipped the ten of them, and the four remaining had enough and fled from that awful hole in the ground.

Bill followed them to the door. His own weapons were exhausted or not at hand by this time, but his stableman came up just then with a rifle in his hands. Bill caught it from him and, out as he was, fired and killed one of the desperadoes as he tried to mount his horse. The other wounded man later died of his wounds. Eight men were killed by the one.

It took Bill a year to recover from his wounds.

His Parting Request.

Augustus Caesar was a wise ruler, and when he died it was said of him that "he had found Rome brick and left it marble." He liberally patronized men of letters, and the "Augustan age" is a phrase applied to any era distinguished for literature and the arts. On the approach of his death, it is said, Augustus called for a mirror and arranged his hair. He then asked those about him if he had played his part well. On their answering in the affirmative he said after the manner of the actors, "Then, farewell—and applauded!"

The Celtic Affirmative.

In the speech of so highly developed a people as the Celts there is no equivalent to "yes." Thus it happens that you shall never hear an Irish water pronouncer the shillabho "yeest" of his English confrere, for he invariably expresses an affirmative by some such phrase as "I shall, sir," "It is, sir,"—Blackwood's Magazine.

OLD RUSSIAN PROVERB.

Born of One of the Most Tragical Episodes in Muscovite History.

The Russian peasant has a saying which invariably puzzles the foreigner, "Too polite and die like Bekovitch."

The proverb refers to one of the most tragic episodes in Muscovite history. In the early spring of 1717 Prince Bekovitch Chernski led an armed expedition consisting of 4,000 infantry and 2,000 cavalry into the then almost unknown interior of south central Asia.

His ostensible object was to open up commercial relations with the khans of Khiva and Bokhara, his real one to see if it was possible to invade India from the north.

The prince, with whom were many officers of the imperial bodyguard, a brilliant company, marched his men across the arid steppes with difficulty and on Aug. 15 halted some eighty miles from the city of Khiva.

The Khivans, ignoring his professions of friendship, attacked in force, but were easily defeated by the better armed and better disciplined soldiers of the czar.

Their khan thereupon resorted to diplomacy. He visited the Russian camp in state, explained that the attack delivered by his people was all a mistake and invited Prince Bekovitch and his principal officers to visit his capital as his guests.

Two days later, at a grand entertainment, the khan treated his "friends the Russians" and vowed eternal friendship. He also took the opportunity of requesting Prince Bekovitch to divide his army into small detachments for entertainment in the surrounding villages, regretting the inability of his capital to entertain so many guests.

The Russian commander politely agreed to the politely preferred request. The Russian force was broken up, and the khan laughed sardonically. His turn had come. Early next day he killed Bekovitch and forwarded his head as a gift to the khan of Bokhara. Then he annihilated the Russian army.

WHERE CUPID REIGNS.

Love Making Seems to Be a Sort of Mania in Spain.

Writes one who has traveled much in Spain: "As the majority of Andalusian girls are engaged at the age of seventeen, the senoritas do not go to many dances, for a Spaniard would as soon allow his fiancée to dance with another man as he would let her wear a harem skirt or ride a bicycle. At their parties Spanish girls get unbounded admiration, and a senior who had reached the age of nineteen and talked to a girl without trying to make love to her would be considered gauche in the extreme. The guests are given nothing to eat on these festive occasions, glasses of cold water being simply handed round when they are leaving."

"Love is an all absorbing topic in this amorous land of orange flowers and revolutions. 'In Spain we do not talk of money; we talk of love,' a Spaniard once said to me. He was right, for love is the beginning and end of every Spaniard's thoughts. On the feast days the young men play no games, preferring to stand about and see the girls pass, and in every daily newspaper you will read of duels fought for some fair senorita's favors. 'The typical senor falls in love fifty times a year with a newness and a passion that has in it something of molten lava and is about as durable. A pair of laughing eyes once seen at a window, a glimpse of a pretty face in the street, and he counts his world well lost. Spain is the most marrying country in Europe.'—Chicago News.

Snuff as an Eye Opener. Snuff was once used as an eye liniment. "The Complete Housewife, or Accomplished Gentlewoman's Companion," which had run into sixteen editions by 1758, extols its virtues. Accomplished gentlewomen who find their sight failing with advancing years are advised to rub "the right sort of Portugal snuff into the eyes night and morning and take it also through the nose."

This treatment, it is asserted, "cured Sir Edward Seymour, Sir John Houbton and Judge Ayres so that they could read without spectacles after they had used them many years."

The Opal, Child of Love.

A sunbeam flung under a leaf in the forest at sunset, loath to leave so fair a spot, until the moon suddenly rose. Enraptured with the shimmering beauty of a moonbeam, he stood entranced and trembling and could not go. In ecstasy they met and kissed. The sun sank and left him in her arms. The opal is the child of their love. "In its fair face are forever mingled the silver of the rising moon and the glory of the sunset."—Anonymous.

A Tennyson Story.

One of Tennyson's friends asked a cabman of Freshwater, "Whose house is that?" Cabman—"It belongs to one Tennyson. Friend—He is a great man, you know. Cabman—He is a great man! He only keeps one manservant, and he don't sleep in the house!—Bookman.

VOTE YES On the Street Railway Franchise.

Next Tuesday April 16th the Electors of the City of Jacksonville will have their first opportunity to vote on an ordinance under the Commission Form of Government.

At this election you can ratify the action of your Commissioners and settle without costly litigation a question that has for years been a matter of dispute.

Your Commissioners and the City Attorney have worked faithfully for the settlement and a franchise was agreed upon with officials of this Company which protects the interests of both parties to the contract, gives the Company an opportunity to develop and assures the city adequate compensation.

Jacksonville desires adequate, good and up-to-date street car service. Help secure this by voting "Yes" Tuesday.

WHAT THE FRANCHISE SECURES

Three per cent of the Gross Earnings of the Company for the City. In twenty years this will run between $35,000 and $50,000.

Half Fare tickets for School Children under eighteen years of age.

100 tickets for $4.00.

Removal of tracks on Illinois Avenue.

Right of City to purchase entire plant at expiration of Franchise.

THOSE NEAR SIDE CARS

The only objection that has been raised to the franchise is to the section authorizing the use of what is known as one-man-near-side-cars. The impression has gotten out that these would mean poor service, delayed schedules and small dinkey cars. Some also have the idea that the city would have nothing to say as to the use of these cars. So there may be no mistake this section is given in full. Your attention is called the last clause.

"Section 5---The Grantee is hereby authorized to use, in the operation of said railway, a type of car designed for one-man-near-side-operation, in which passengers will enter and leave the car at its forward end only, under the observation of the motive power operator, the rear end of the car to be normally closed, and in which the motive power operator will perform also the normal duties of a conductor; provided, however, if grantee because of the employment of the type of car above describes shall be unable properly to maintain its schedules, or if the operation of cars of such type is found to increase the dangers over grantee's present method of operation, then in either such event the use of such type of cars shall be discontinued and the same shall be superseded by such other modern type of car as shall be agreed upon by said city and grantee."

The next section reads as follows:

Section 6. The grantee hereby agrees to equip its street railway system with the most approved finish and design of cars, and to maintain upon its road good and convenient cars to accommodate public travel, and to keep same in good and safe order and condition, and keep the tracks and roadbed in good order and condition, etc.

The one man cars are especially designed for this service. The near side stop is the safe method and is being ordered by practically all cities. The pay-as-you-enter feature is being adopted by all companies everywhere.

The cars will be the same seating capacity as at present. The rear will be enclosed affording a large platform for smokers. Passengers will enter and leave the car at the front through two doors separated by a railing. The steps will be raised when the car is in motion and only down when car is standing. The fare will be deposited in a fare box under the eye of the operator.

All passengers entering and leaving will be directly under the observation of the operator, thus avoiding accident. The front entrance does away with loss of time and confusion in entering and leaving, caused by a jam of standing passengers on the platform, as at present.

On days of large crowds the cars as now operated will be run. The system is SAFER, more CONVENIENT. It will mean new equipment.

And if the company cannot make its schedules as provided in the ordinance or if the service is not satisfactory, the city can MAKE IT PUT BACK THE OTHER CARS. The city has absolute control over the service.

The Company is waiting for the settlement of the franchise question to spend $30,000 in Jacksonville.

WE WILL APPRECIATE YOUR ASSISTANCE.

Grain Letter.

Chicago, Ill., April 10.—Wheat—strong and sharp higher. Foreign markets responded to the bullish government report and America followed. Sensational damages reports from all sections of the winter wheat belt were the motive. Professional speculators are slow to appreciate the condition, but there was a sharp increase in general demand. The leading May futures sold some wheat on the advance, and found a good demand. Seeding conditions northwest are reported excellent, the trade is looking forward to a large acreage of spring wheat. The high price for coarse grains continues to make a good demand for low grade wheat and flour by-products. The advance in July has been fought and the market is heavily oversold. Favorable weather will bring better reports and possibly cause some sharp breaks, but conditions now point to a badly damaged wheat crop and a higher level. Investments in July should be profitable.

Corn—Strong and higher. Trade not as large as recently. Investors are inclined to be cautious at the present level. Kansas City and St. Louis were sharply higher. Southern and southwestern bids are topping Chicago prices and there is small prospect of stuff being turned this way. Country sales have increased somewhat as a result of higher prices. Offerings are not heavy and no big run can be expected in the near future. Country elevator stocks are well sold out, soft roads and pressure of farm work are sure to keep the movement small for the next sixty days. Realizing may cause sharp setbacks, but without material increase in receipts, higher prices will be in order and purchases on soft spots will be profitable.

Oats—May advanced sharply with cash interests good buyers. Local shippers are unable to supply their wants either in the sample market or in shipments out of Chicago past two days aggregated $55,000 vs. receipts of 432,000 bushels. Speculative demand for July was good. This delivery shared in May strength. Local professionals encouraged by fine weather and reports of seeding were aggressive sellers of September. We can only reiterate the many bullish factors to which we have referred. Good weather, late May, late pastures late. Oats must supply the deficiency. Spot oats are above May, and May is above July. Oats will be less plentiful in July than in May. New oats can hardly be expected before August. We believe May oats will sell higher and that July will go above present May level. September in view of the late seeding and excessive short selling looks particularly cheap. Short acreage is practically certain. There is every reason to believe that corn will sell at very high figures; the new crop of oats will be heavily drawn on as substitute for corn. We think July and September a high attractive investment.

Provisions—Hulls who recently took profits have been holding off, waiting for a break. This has kept trade dull. Scattered liquidation made an easier market early, but grain strength renewed investment buying. Hog prices are easier, but are holding fairly well. Hog receipts were fairly liberal slightly above figures of a year ago. Even with the present advance manufactured product is still below raw material. Hog marketing has been very heavy for many months. Supplies are greatly reduced.
